

Cocktail Pools (Big Value for a Small Space)

Having a small backyard does not mean it should be an abandoned space that no one in the family uses. Small backyards are quaint, cozy and still offer a lot of flexibility. With the right designs, a smaller backyard can be a haven for the family to spend time when they need a break from the television!

Cocktail Pool in the Backyard

A cocktail pool, or spook, is a smaller swimming pool that is designed specifically for backyards that may not have that much space. Think of a cocktail pool as a combination of the hot tubs found at spas and a swimming pool. They are affordable to construct, maintain and they still deliver the same effect of having a place to splash around at home!

Create an Intimate Atmosphere

The beauty of a cocktail pool is that it helps to create an intimate experience in the backyard. It is possible to set up a cocktail pool with decking, a patio, and even a BBQ area. It is all about what the family would prefer for their backyard.

Imagine having friends over for a summer BBQ. Everyone can relax with drinks on the patio, while meat is grilling nearby. The wonderful smell creates an incredible atmosphere, while the cocktail pool is only a few feet away. It is the perfect way to spend a summer afternoon. The kids could even take a quick dip in the pool before lunch!

Multiple Design Choices

Cocktail pools are extremely versatile in how they are set up. They can fit into almost any backyard space, as the designer can tweak the dimensions of the pool so that it fits perfectly. Homeowners have many choices for cocktail pool designs in smaller backyard spaces. Some may want an entertainment setup nearby, while others would love to have a couple of comfortable chairs and a fireplace.

Cheaper to Maintain

While the construction of a spool may not be cheaper than a regular pool, the maintenance costs are much lower. These pools do not cover a significant area, which means the amount of water needed to fill the pool is much less. Regular pool maintenance steps are required, such as manual cleaning and routine water replacement. But everything is at a smaller scale, which brings costs down.

Backyard of Dreams

It is all about creating the backyard of dreams. Instead of looking at that empty space in the backyard and wondering what to do with it - set up a cocktail pool. It can become the focal point for the rest of the yard. The structure around which everything else is centered.

Imagine a small pool at the forefront of the backyard, with pool chairs on the surrounding patio, and a sleek BBQ grill on the side. It is the perfect setup for enjoying the summer, fall and spring months!

Many families assume that a stunning backyard with different amenities is only an option for those who own a lot of land. But even with a modest-sized backyard, it is possible to create something special.
